STATE NEWS

Androscoggin

A petition for the return of Prof. I. P. Martin, principal of the Lewiston Grammar school, is being circulated. It has been almost universally signed.

A very sad case has recently come to light in Auburn. One day last week the city physician of Auburn received notice from the Mayor to visit a poor woman in the lower part of the city concerning whom the neighbors had brought report. The city physician in company with the Mayor visited the house. The door was found locked. A transom over the door was forced open and finally an entrance was effected. The woman who had but recently moved to this place was found to be well along in years and to have evidently been taken seriously ill before her household goods could have been arranged. She was in a bed on the floor and too ill to open the door. She had been about three days without nourishment.

Cumberland

Mrs. John W. Marston has been chosen matron of the aged Men's Home at Portland. It is expected that the Home will be opened September 1st.

Judge Walton of the Supreme Judicial Court, is to remove from Auburn (his present place of residence) to Morrill Corner, where he has lately purchased a house which he is now fitting up.

Monday afternoon counsel for respondents filed a motion with the Clerk of the Courts to dismiss the petition for certiorari in the Andrews case on the ground that the Law Court has no jurisdiction in the matter and that the exceptions were improvidently granted and are not allowed by law.

Capt. Albert Marwicks who was appointed trustee in the matter of the wreck of steamer City of Portland states that he has sold the wreck and cargo that was saved and has paid into court the sum of $9,851. After deducting expenses, the balance will be divided pro rata among those who have proved their claims. The balance will be very small.

A very destructive hail storm swept through South Bridgton, Saturday afternoon. Over fifty acres of corn were completely ruined. Among the heaviest losers are the Fitch Brothers, Thomas Mason, and Chas. Douglass. A good deal of window glass was broken. [illegible] Norton, the stage driver, informs the Portland Argus that he drove through the tract visited by the storm, and though more than two hours had passed, yet the hail lay in windrows along the side of the road. The loss to the farmers in that vicinity is large.

Franklin

Engineer Foster, driver of the locomotive on the passenger train of the Farmington branch of the Maine Central, shows his true republicanism by running along a handsome picture of Blaine [illegible] the headlight of his engine. The engines of the Sandy River Railroad are similarly decorated.

Mrs. Sarah A. Gay was Friday night brought before the Municipal Court, at Farmington, on the charge of uttering and obtaining money on a forged order from the Franklin Savings bank, and [illegible] the sum of $ 80.

Kennebec

Lightning Saturday night set fire to barns owned by Alvin [illegible] of Gardiner, which was burned together with four tons of hay. Loss $400, no insurance.

The Kennebec Agricultural Society has issued the schedule of premiums for their fifty third annual exhibition to be held at Readfield Corner, September 30th and October 1st and 2d. Over eight hundred dollars are offered in premiums.

Saturday evening, July 19th, the barn of Mr. J. N. Colburn, of China, was struck by lightning and totally consumed by fire. A horse and promising colt two months old, were also killed. The dwelling house near by was saved by the rain which fortunately fell in torrents at the time. A few years ago Mr. Colburn also lost his house by fire. There was an insurance of $75 on the barn.

A drum corps of eight members has been organized in Augusta. It will appear on campaign occasions.

A private letter from County Attorney Haines makes the gratifying announcement that his treatment at Hot Springs, Arkansas has thus far been very beneficial—his rheumatism is leaving him and he has gained six pounds to his weight in a week.

Mr. John Garland of Augusta, suffered severe injuries while haying, Friday. The horse which he was driving became frightened and ran. Mr. Garland was thrown down and the wheels of the hay rack passed over him. One leg was seriously injured and he was badly bruised in different parts of the body.

There was a smart shower, at Readfield, Saturday evening, accompanied with lightning which done some damage. It struck Mr. A. G. Stevens carriage house and spoilt the looks of one corner. It also struck the house of Mr. D. C. Ambrose at the foot of Kent's Hill. There were two large fires to be seen to the North after the hardest shower.

Major Keith, of the Soldiers' Home has secured a young weazel, and for food gave it a mouse. The mouse had been unfortunate in the past, and in some trap or elsewhere, had lost the greater part of both hind legs. Whether from pity or other reasons unknown, the weazel and mouse instantly fraternized and are on the best of terms. It is the more singular as they make common cause against another mouse and after killing him dine off him together with great gusto. The weazel is very solicitous at such times and seems to be afraid of injuring the wrong mouse as during the contest he frequently runs to assure himself of his protege's safety and then falls upon the other with increased vigor. It is a singular spectacle.

Lincoln.

The latest excitement at Capitol Island, Squirrel Island and Boothbay, is the capture of a whale by the tug Fanny Sprague, which has been on exhibition at Linnekin's Bay. Its length is sixty-four feet, and its diameter in the thickest part is fifteen feet. It is a genuine monster, and crowds gather to see it. The creature was shot with a bomb lance, which struck just under the forward fin, but the fish sank and was not secured until three days later, when it rose to the surface and was towed in and stranded in Linnekin's Bay. The owners value their prize at three hundred dollars.

Oxford.

A young man in Rumford was pitching on some hay in the barn last week when the lightning came into the door and set the hay on fire, without doing him any harm. He with a fork removed the burning hay, [illegible]

Lightning seriously damaged the stand of Mr. Hibbard Aldrich, at the lower end of Norway village, Saturday afternoon. Mrs. Aldrich was rendered insensible by the blow. During the same storm, the stand adjoining, Mr. Gideon Bearce of [illegible] was struck by lightning and [illegible].

Saturday's rain raised the pitch in Swift river at Rumford [illegible] this season. The water [illegible] of cocks of hay on one piece of land at [illegible] the grass entirely on another. Poplar [illegible] running all day Sunday and [illegible] for a below in the Androscoggin.

The manufacture of spools and toys which is the principal industry at Bryant's Pond consumes about 800 or 900 cords of birch yearly, according to the Oxford Democrat. New machinery is now being put in [illegible] for building [illegible]

The heaviest [illegible] known for years visited Andover Saturday afternoon. A heavy thunder shower prevailed for three hours, during which a ball of fire from a cloud entered a large barn belonging to Mr. Thomas Newell, at South Andover, and in a moment it was on fire. The neighbors rallied, and with some difficulty removed the horses and cattle and every movable thing from the barn, but the barn in a short time was in ashes. The loss is fully covered by insurance. [illegible]

The buildings on the Farwell place at the edge of Bethel belonging to Frank Farwell were destroyed by fire. [illegible] day of last week. [illegible] about ten tons of hay in the barn. Cause unknown.

Randall Taylor's house in Mexico was burned, Saturday last. An alarm was given and a [illegible] of the works [illegible] the spot in season to render valuable service. Nearly everything in the house was saved. The insurance was $400.

The brush factory of C. Whitington & Sons, at Buckfield was burned to the ground, with nearly all its contents Friday night. Cause unknown. Loss estimated $5,000. Insured for $1,900.

The dwelling house of Kennebunk Depot, owned and occupied by Joseph [illegible] Noble, together with sheds, barn and slaughter house and a portion of their contents were burned Saturday night. Loss $2,300, insured for $1,700.

Joseph Goin, a Canadian, about forty years of age, at work for the Biddeford and Saco Water company was seriously and it was at first feared fatally injured Monday by a premature explosion. He was struck by flying pieces of rock and thrown some distance. The right side of the man's face was black from the effects of the powder. The blood streamed from numerous cuts on his body. It is thought he will recover.

The case of Mary F. Barrows, convicted of the murder of Thomas Barrows, was argued before the full court at Portland on Saturday. Hon. [illegible] Drew and Wm. Emery and John B. Donovan, Esqs., appeared for Mrs. Barrows, and Attorney General Cleaves and County Attorney Higgins for the State. Exceptions were taken at the trial to the admission of the testimony of Oscar E. Blaney, who was jointly indicted with respondent and called as a witness for the government. The Attorney General argued that the true rule applicable to the case was, that when the prisoners are tried separately, though jointly indicted, the people may call those not on trial, though not convicted or acquitted or otherwise discharged. The case was taken under advisement by the court.

Historical Memoranda

Petition from Wheelersborough, (now Hampden) in 1790, for leniency in the matter of the payment for lots, and for the appointment of an agent to receive money, and give titles to land.

Benjamin Wheeler, for whom the plantation was afterwards named, was the first settler in 1767, and built mills at the mouth of the Sowadabscook river, where the town was first settled. Gen. Herrick says the Indian word was "Soadabscoo."

Hampden was incorporated February 24, 1794.

This document is copied by Dr. Pratt, of Chelsea, Mass., from the Records of Massachusetts.—E. F. D.

To the Honorable Committee on the subject of unappropriated lands of this Commonwealth—Inhabitants of Sowadabscook Plantation, Sheweth, That your Memorialists are actual Settlers on Lands in said Plantation & since we have been informed that a Sufficient Title to our Land is to be obtained in conformity to the Resolve passed June 24th, 1789, We have taken every measure in our power to procure [illegible] money as would pay for the Same, but as yet have not been able to Raise a sufficiency for that purpose, through the Scarcity of Specie in these parts, altho we were willing to make the greatest Sacrifices. We therefore pray that your Honorable Board would take our circumstances into your wise consideration, that a further time might be allowed us to procure the remainder of our money to pay for our Lots. And also that some suitable person living near this Plantation might be appointed and impowered as an Agent to receive our money, & to give and execute Sufficient Deeds of our Respective Lots of Land on which we have settled. And also to take such Measures respecting Plantation out our lines as your Honors in your Wisdom may think meet. And your Petitioners as in duty bound will ever Pray.

In the light of recent events it ... is not to be wondered at that Mr. Curtis ... does not care to trust too much to the ... word of delegates.

Some of the Democratic papers, in their ... zeal to attack Gen. Logan, would unconsciously demonstrate that being a Democrat is an unpardonable sin which, not even a life-time of repentance and good works can expiate. In General Logan's case all they can find to fling at him is the charge that away back before the war he acted with the Democratic party, and supported some of the false doctrines to which the party has stubbornly adhered. His present assailants emphasize and illuminate the wickedness of Democracy when they argue that a man cannot be forgiven a former connection with that party after he has fought it as John A. Logan has for twenty-five years on the battlefield and in the forum.

What is its Opinion Worth?

Ever since the Republican National Convention, the New York Evening Post, which has well earned the reputation of being the "boss slander manufacturer and mud thrower" among the free trade anti-Blaine journals, has been shouting that the Republican nomination is an insult to the American people and that Mr. Blaine will surely be defeated at the polls in November. Just what weight can be attached to the opinions promulgated by the Post, the following predictions published in that paper prior to the convention will aptly illustrate:

CONFIDENT OF BLAINE'S DEFEAT.

(From the Evening Post of April 14, 1884.)

We await the assembling of the convention with serene confidence that he [Blaine] will come much less near a nomination than he did in 1880.

ALL DANGER OF HIS NOMINATION PAST.

(From the Evening Post of April 19, 1884.)

There can be no doubt that the Blaine boom has touched its highest point for this year, and whatever danger there may have been of its success in the National Convention has passed away.

RAPIDLY FADING AWAY.

(From the Evening Post of April 21, 1884.)

The Blaine boom evidently is in a bad way.

AND EVERYBODY NOW KNOWS IT.

(From the Evening Post of May 3, 1884.)

The impossibility of nominating him [Blaine] is universally recognized now.

HIS NOMINATION PLAINLY HOPELESS.

(From the Evening Post of May 12, 1884.)

The simple facts of the matter, which are plain enough for all men to see, are that both Blaine and Arthur are hopelessly short of a majority, and that the nomination of either is very improbable.

HOW IT WAS RUINED.

(From the Evening Post of May 20, 1884.)

His [Blaine's] boom has been ruined by over-zeal.

THE RUIN OF IT CAUSES DISTRESS.

(From the Evening Post of May 27, 1884.)

The Blaine workers show the most distress. Their boom has been steadily diminishing in size since the Utica Convention.

UNLESS ALL SIGNS FAIL.

(From the Evening Post of June 2, 1884.)

Unless all signs are misleading the impossibility of nominating either Blaine or Arthur is now recognized by the friends of both these candidates.

BUT THE SIGNS ARE LOST EXPLAINING THEM AWAY.

(From the Evening Post of June 3, 1884.)

The shouting of the Blaine boomers, which is alarming a good many Republicans who do not wish to see their party make the blunder of nominating him, is no greater than it was in 1876 and 1880, and there are no signs that it will result in anything more tangible now than it did then.

STILL EXPLAINING.

(From the Evening Post of June 4, 1884.)

In all probability Mr. Blaine came nearer to being nominated for the Presidency yesterday than he will again—at "east this year. ... That the convention can be led into a blunder of these proportions there is happily little danger. The outlook grows better every hour for the nomination of a dark horse candidate.

BUT, AT ANY RATE, THE BLAINE MEN ARE SCARED.

(From the Evening Post of June 5, 1884.)

They [the Blaine men] are plainly afraid of the majority of the convention and for good reasons.

Independents of Pennsylvania

THEIR HEARTY SUPPORT OF BLAINE.—EXTRACTS FROM LETTERS.

By Telegraph to the Tribune.

The address sent by the Independent Republicans of Pennsylvania to the Independents of New York and Massachusetts a few days ago, giving reasons why in the judgment of the Pennsylvania Independents Blaine and Logan should be elected, was followed simply by the signatures of Chairman McKee and the members of the Republican Independent State Committee and other independent organizations without any comment or expression of opinion. The letters of the Independents to Chairman McKee in reply to his circular to them asking the privilege of using their names, contain many characteristic expressions of opinion, showing their enthusiasm for Blaine.

As an evidence of their feeling toward the ticket, the following extracts are given. The letters, as will be seen, come from every section of the State. Of the number, Messrs. Swoet, of Susquehanna County, Dr. Dime, of Lycoming, J. Frank, of Schuylkill, and Thomas W. Phillips, of Lawrence, are the only ones who, while they have cooperated with the Independents and while some of them were delegates to the Independent Convention that nominated John Stewart for Governor in 1882, are now not members of the Independent State Committee. The extracts with the names of the writers are as follows:

J. N. McNair, Allegheny County: "Go ahead. It is all O. K. Thoroughly satisfied with Blaine and Logan."

Alexander C. Crawford, Allegheny County: "The holier than thou idea of a few New-York malcontents can have no supporters among the Republicans of Western Pennsylvania who have long and earnestly struggled to bring about the results so successfully accomplished by the Chicago Convention. The bold and unqualified assertion of the principles of the party and the holding forth for the Presidency the only representative American Statesman, are splendid records and ought to be long steps in the march to victory in November."

L. W. Minnich, Bedford County: "I have only to state that the nomination of Blaine and Logan by the undivided vote of the people's representatives in convention is only the legitimate outgrowth of Independent Republican principles."

J. R. Spang, Butler County: "I do not know an Independent Republican in Butler County but will vote for Blaine and Logan, and that includes myself. Hurrah for Blaine and Logan."

Ex-Judge J. W. Cochran, Cameron County: "The Independents of this district are all for Blaine and Logan."

T. Frank Walter, Carbon County: "The glorious results of civil service reform, of the downfall of bossism, of the purification of the party in the assessment of office-holders, and finally in the delegation to the voters of the right to select and instruct their delegates, has cleared the skies of Republicanism and given us the strongest platform and ticket that has ever been presented. Free trade alone can excuse the position taken by George William Curtis and his associates, which is not indorsed by a single Independent Republican in this part of Pennsylvania."

G. E. Darlington, Delaware County: "I favor the election of Blaine and Logan. When the State Committee desires to act in the matter as to our State, I am ready to act with them."

Ex-Judge Souther, Erie County: "Use my name in any way to aid the election of Blaine and Logan. You have my hearty co-operation to accomplish that result."

James A. McKnight, Franklin County: "The platform and the nominees of the Chicago Convention meet my full approval and shall receive my earnest and active support."

James Pott, Fulton County: "The Independent revolt of 1882 accomplished its object. Better methods were obtained. The voice of the people has been heard and respected, and Blaine has triumphed, and his triumph is the triumph of the Independent Republicans. Having thus triumphed and redeemed the character of the Republican party and given potency to the expressed wishes of the masses which accomplished the nomination of Blaine, why should not every Independent support Blaine and Logan?"

R. McDevitt, Huntington County: "It is only necessary for me to say that a Blaine club was organized here three months ago with J. R. Hatfield President, John E. Flenner as Secretary and myself as Treasurer. The Independents are all for Blaine and Logan here."

J. S. Nesbit, Indiana County: "The Independent Republicans are unanimously for Blaine and Logan in this section, and I cannot see how the New York and Massachusetts Independents can do otherwise. They are certainly stultifying themselves and their record and dishonoring the memory of Garfield."

Dallas C. Irish, Lawrence County: "We may have had Presidents who were fully intrenched in the hearts of the people, such as Washington, Lincoln and Garfield, but this is the first instance within my memory that we have had a President nominated by the popular verdict and expression in convention by duly elected representatives. The cardinal principle of the Independent reformation has been achieved."

"Warned."

(Boston Traveller.)

The Democrats propose to carry Mississippi again, this year, and by the methods with which the country is familiar, and against which the Democratic party never makes a vigorous protest. The Brookhaven Democrat, published in the Seventh Congressional District (Barksdale's) of that State, calls attention to a report that the Republicans propose an aggressive campaign, and says:

We take the present opportunity thus early in the fight to throw out a friendly warning to the more reckless and unprincipled demagogues of the Republican party in this and adjoining counties not to let their "patriotism" get the better of their discretion. If they are endowed with ordinary judgment—even of that kind which personal safety may be supposed to engender—they may see the "handwriting on the wall" reflected in the light of recent events.

One of the "recent events" referred to was undoubtedly the murder of Print Matthews, because he, a white man, voted the Republican ticket. The Democrat further says:

And let it be at once understood that it will be an act so perilous that none but fools will undertake it, to antagonize the colored race against the whites. Let this, we say, be understood definitely. It cannot be too earnestly or too speedily impressed, and if the fate of Print Matthews will add any weight to our utterances, his party will have reaped more benefit from his death than he could have conferred on it by living. "A word to the wise is sufficient."

This Democratic declaration is submitted to the consideration of the well-meaning gentleman who can see no difference between the Republican and the Democratic parties.

The following correspondence is made public by the Secretary of the Irish National Republican League:

NEW YORK, July 15, 1884.

Hon. James G. Blaine, Augusta, Maine, and Hon. John A. Logan, Washington, D. C.:

The Executive Committee of the Irish National Republican League and other representative Irish-Americans met in conference Monday at Long Branch and determined to call a convention of Irish-American citizens for the purpose of indorsing the nomination of Blaine and Logan. Despatches were received from every State in the Union giving a hearty assurance of the support of Irish citizens generally to our movement.

WASHINGTON, July 15.

Republican National Committee, 242 Fifth avenue, New York City:

Convey my compliments and thanks to the Irish National Republican League for their consideration of the Republican National Ticket.

JOHN A. LOGAN.

Congressman Finerty's attitude is causing much uneasiness to the Democrats in Chicago. In the Chicago Citizen of last Saturday he gave a list of the bills affecting workingmen which Cleveland had vetoed, and declared that unless this apparent hostility of the Democratic Presidential candidate to labor can be explained the Citizen will not support him.

FROM CALAIS

The Day Before the Race

CALAIS, July 23. The streets are crowded with strangers. Large numbers of hawkers and peddlers are selling wares at every corner. At this hour, 9 P. M., it is raining hard with every prospect of unfavorable weather to-morrow. Unless it is absolutely impossible to row the races will not be postponed. Gamblers are present in full force and poker and faro is in order for the night. The Mayors of Calais and St. Stephen state that they will enforce the law to the fullest extent as regards gambling, even not allowing pool selling. The oarsmen are all in splendid condition to-night and enjoyed good practice all day.

The assignments for trial heats to-morrow are as follows: First heat, Teemer, Albert Hamm, Riley and McCormick; second, Conley, Ten Eyck, Langley, Peter Hamm and Nagle; third heat, Gaudaur, Hosmer, Lee and Vail.

There is little betting going on yet. Teemer is favorite for the first money and Conley and Gaudaur stand about even for the second place.

The following starting positions were drawn to-night: First heat, Riley 1, Hamm 2, McCormick 3, Teemer 1; second, Ten Eyck 1, Conley 2, Nagle 3, Hamm 4, Langley 5; third, Lee 1, Vail 2, Hosmer 3, Gaudaur 4. Number one is near the Canadian shore [and] four is near the American shore of the river. The latter is considered the best choice.

DECIDING THE WASHBURN WILL CASE

The Rights of Governor Washburn's Widow Adjusted

ST. PAUL, July 23. The Supreme Court of Minnesota has made a decision in the Washburn will case, involving property worth several millions dollars, most of it being the large flour mills on St. Anthony Falls, Minneapolis. The will gave the executors the right to use all moneys necessary for the comfort of the widow and did not stipulate any amount. According to the law, the widow has a right either to accept the provisions of the will, or to insist upon one-third of the property, to which she is entitled by law. The estate being in Wisconsin and Minnesota, the matter was brought up in the courts of both States. The widow being insane, the Supreme Court of Wisconsin decided that she should accept the provisions of the will. Her guardian, George K. Chase, took exception of the right of this court to make the choice for the widow and insisted that the right of dower be enforced, and one-third the estate given to her.

The same question was raised in the Hennepin County Probate Court, which decided that the widow was entitled to both legal dower and the provision made in the will. This the District Court overruled and decided that she take the allowance and not the real estate.

The decisions of the Wisconsin Supreme Court is upheld by this, the last decision of the Supreme Court of Minnesota.

The heirs of Mrs. Washburn were interested in having the election by the Minneapolis Probate Court affirmed. This would have prejudiced the large bequests made by Mr Washburn to various philanthropic objects. After making several generous bequests to his daughters and nephews, and nieces, and his brothers Elihu B. and Israel, Governor Washburn left $375,000 to an orphan asylum near Minneapolis, and $50,000 to the public library in the city of Lacrosse. The executors are authorized to convey the Minneapolis Roller Mill, A, if it has not been placed in corporation as intended, to the Fidelity Insurance Trust and Safe Deposit Company of Philadelphia, in trust for the benefit of his daughters Jeannette and Fannie, a certain allowance from the earnings to be made annually to them. The executors are authorized to make the same disposition of Mills B and C, for the purpose of making good any deficiency in the bequest for the orphan asylum and public library, the trust fund to be held for the general benefit of the estate and of the residuary legatees thenceforward. These provisions will now be carried out, as it is supposed that the litigation has come to a satisfactory end.

MILWAUKEE, July 23. A severe rain and wind storm passed over Wisconsin early to-day, doing great damage to crops and timber. At [illegible] a portion of the town was blown down and a number of people badly injured and one person was killed outright.

NEW YORK.

Circus Tents Prostrated by Storms—Several Persons Injured.

RICHFIELD SPRINGS, July 23. During the exhibition here of Washburn & Hunting's circus a hurricane struck the tents, tearing the menagerie canvass almost to atoms and prostrating the main one flat to the ground. This was filled with the fashion of Richfield Springs. Hundreds of gaily dressed children were compelled to crawl from under the canvass on their hands and knees, only to meet a terrific hail storm, followed by rain in torrents. They took refuge in barns and sheds until help arrived. Several barns were wrecked by the storm and others were struck by lightning, trees are prostrate over all the roads and thousands of hop poles are lying on the ground. Reports from surrounding cities state that the hurricane was general with its centre over this village.

BUFFALO, July 23. During the performance of Barnum's circus at Cortland, N.Y., this afternoon, a terrible wind storm arose and blew down the canvas. About twenty-five persons were injured, but all will probably recover.

THE GRAND ARMY ENCAMPMENT.

18,000 Veterans in Line.

Viewed by 75,000 Spectators.

Ovations to Generals Logan, Sherman and Others.

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn, July 23. The grand parade of the Grand Army of the Republic was delayed in forming, but is now in motion. They are received with tremendous cheers by sixty thousand people who throng every street on the line of march. The weather is fair, but sultry, with threatening clouds gathering. The whole Grand Army is in line and it is the largest demonstration seen here since the war. The parade is now (12 o'clock) passing City Hall, where the children on canopied platforms are waving banners and singing an old war song which the veterans take up and pass on with uncovered heads.

Music of bands waving of banners and the shouts of thousands from the streets, windows and housetops, constitute the inspiring scene. As the tattered battle flags are recognized by the old veterans a wild cry of delight goes up. The enthusiasm was never equalled here and its the greatest of all demonstrations ever witnessed in the Northwest.

To-day was the greatest day of the Grand Army Encampment. There were 18,000 veterans in the procession which was an hour and twenty minutes passing a given point. There were probably from 8,000 to 10,000 in the city who did not join in the procession. About 75,000 strangers besides these made up the visitors.

Gen Logan occupied a prominent place at the head of the procession and Gen Sherman rode in the middle. Both received continued ovations from the veterans. Gens Thomas, Kauntz, Warner, Nagle and Gibson were also received with cheers along the line of march through the city, which was profusely decorated. Afterwards there were sporting amusements and most of the State delegations had reunions.

A business meeting was held and commissioners appointed to make arrangements for the election of the Commander-in-Chief to-morrow.

In the evening 75,000 people crowded the grounds and witnessed the exhibition of fireworks by the Flambeau Club of Topeka. Gen Logan will be given a reception tomorrow morning, and Sherman and other distinguished generals present will receive at Gen Washburn's residence in the evening.

The Prohibitory Convention.

PITTSBURG, Pa, July 23. The National Prohibition Convention was called to order at 11 o'clock by Gideon J. Stewart and prayer was offered by Rev Dr Miner, of Boston. The call for the convention was then read by W. K. Nelson, of Chicago. An address of welcome was delivered by C. I. Rose, of Pittsburg. He described it as a very great honor and pleasant duty to welcome to Pittsburg the delegates of the National Prohibition Convention. Never did a party more justly plead for help than this one. Back of them was a century of desolation caused by the legalized liquor traffic. The demand of the age could not be met without the Prohibition party.

Gideon J. Stewart, chairman of the National Committee, responded on behalf of the convention.

A telegram from Rochester, N. Y., saying that Ex-Governor St. John, of Kansas, stated positively that he was not a candidate, was freely circulated. Dr. Blanchard, of Illinois, said that notwithstanding this St John's name would be presented to the convention and that if nominated he would accept.

The temporary organization was effected by the choice of Wm. Daniel, of Md., as chairman and Mrs Woodbridge, President of the Ohio Women's Christian Temperance Union, and Chas. S. Carter, of Washington, as secretaries. Daniel, in taking the chair, spoke of the progress which Prohibition was making in Maryland.

The secretary made a report of the number of delegates from the various States [illegible] in all, and the Committee on Credentials was appointed, the States being called and several delegations sending up the names for members of the committee. The duties of the secretary in calling the roll of States were performed by Mrs Woodbridge, and responses were made in two or three cases by ladies. The members of the Committee on Credentials being also in a few cases ladies. The convention then, at 1.30, took a recess until [illegible].

Upon reassembling prayer was offered, followed by the singing of "Coronation" by the whole convention. The secretary reported the following representation in the convention: Alabama 2, California 23, Connecticut 2, Illinois 45, Maine 3, Kansas 17, Kentucky 6, Michigan 60, Nebraska 3, Dakota 1, Ohio 14, New Jersey 18, Maryland 16, New York, 75, Missouri 10, Minnesota 12, Texas 10, Pennsylvania [illegible], Wisconsin 58, total 446.

Telegrams encouraging the convention in its work were received and read from all parts of the country.

Miss Willard, President of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union, presented a memorial from that body similar to that presented to the National Republican Convention. It concluded: "We do hereby respectfully and earnestly petition you to avow and adopt such measures as are requisite to the end that the prohibition of the importation, exportation, manufacture and sale of alcoholic beverages may become an integral part of the National Constitution and that your party candidates shall, by [illegible] and public pledge be committed to the National Constitutional prohibitory amendment."

The report of the Committee on Credentials was presented, showing 31 States and Territories represented by 576 delegates, and that there were actually present 461 delegates. A [illegible] accompanied the report to the effect that delegates be authorized to cast the full vote of States they represent. The report was accepted, and the resolution adopted by the convention, which by a rising vote and with much enthusiasm received the views and principles expressed in the memorial of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union.

At the evening session the committee on permanent organization reported Prof Samuel Dickey of Michigan as President, and a large number of vice presidents, among them several ladies and Gen Clinton B. Fisk, of New Jersey, and several secretaries, first among them being Mr Woodbridge of Ohio. The report was adopted and a committee appointed to conduct Prof. Dickey to the chair. Mr Dickey, in taking the chair said they were here for work, not for words. They were here because they were driven into this work by powerful conviction. This Prohibition party stood committed to earnest and independent political action. (Cheers.) Their object was to found and to build up from its foundation an intelligent body of voters whose political thought would be the complete suppression of the liquor traffic. To that work they were pledged, and by that work they expect to stand. The committee on rules made a report fixing the daily hours of the convention from 9 to 1 and 3 to 6.

Speeches in presenting candidates for nomination are to be limited to ten minutes. Balloting not to precede the adoption of a platform. The vote of a State shall not be altered until all the States are called. A proposition to adopt the two-thirds rule for nomination of candidate was rejected. It was decided it would require a majority of votes cast to nominate a candidate. Various propositions were submitted and referred to the committee on resolutions and the convention adjourned till nine o'clock to-morrow.

The patrons of the Kineo will be sure of a good night's rest, as the hotel is supplied with the hair mattresses and the unrivalled U. S. spring bed, of which Dole Brothers are the agents. It will take some fifteen car loads of furniture to furnish the house.

GOOD-BYE STAGE COACH!

The Iron Horse Drives Off the Stage-horse. Reminiscences of the Olden Time

Many of our citizens remember well the time, before the advent of our railroad system, which has grown up to an importance far beyond the anticipation of all, when the arrival of the stage-coach was as eagerly watched and caused more commotion than does the arrival and departure of the fifty trains that daily arrive at and depart from this city.

Those were the days before the telegraph when Col John Goddard, impatient of the slow pace of the coach, rode to this city on a fleet horse and announced that Polk had been elected President.

Then Shaw's line to Waterville and Augusta carried and brought our western mails, and such passengers as chose to go to Portland and Boston by rail instead of steamboat. Then, also a finely-equipped line ran to Mattawamkeag and thence to Patten and Houlton. Another line ran to Ellsworth and Cherryfield and still another to Dover, Monson and Moosehead Lake.

These were the leading and principal lines, but others than is now the case ran on routes to the outlying towns where there were mail connections.

With the building of the Penobscot and Kennebec Railroad, now the Maine Central, Shaw's line was displaced; the building of the European road put a quietus on the Mattawamkeag line and the Shore Line has taken away the Ellsworth and Cherryfield line.

The last of these lines to be wiped out and hold a place only in our memories, is the Moosehead Lake line, which ceased to exist when on Monday last, the mails began to be carried through to Greenville by rail.

This line was first established nearly half a century ago by a Mr H[illegible] of Guilford. After running it for several years he sold out to Mr Thomas Norcross of Charleston, familiarly known as [illegible] Tom Norcross, the father of Col [illegible] Norcross and Henry W., both of whom drove the stage for many years, and afterwards purchased the line of their father and continued it for several years until some time about 1873 they sold out, to [illegible] Nichols who ran it for fifteen or sixteen years.

Mr Nichols sold out to J. P. Webb [illegible] a brief time the line was purchased by J. H. Hunting who with his partner, [illegible] Morrison, has continued to run it until [illegible] Otis Hobbs [illegible] line was gone.

It has been a good many years since this line ran into this city. With the building of the Piscataquis Railroad to Dover its route was from Dover to the Lake. When the road was pushed forward to Guilford that town became its terminus at this end and when Blanchard was reached the stage dropped Monson, as it had Dover from its route, and run between Blanchard and Greenville. And how many there are who will long retain in their memory the long ride over the Blanchard hills. Now [illegible] and now in storm sometimes [illegible] always interesting and when the skies clear and bright, with vision unobstructed, the view embraced far distant Katahdin, Chairback, the Spencers and a score of other lofty peaks. Then looking down into the far distant valleys below and there catching for the first time [illegible] the summit of Indian Hill was reached, a glimpse of the magnificent sheet of water, Moosehead Lake produced a delightful impression of grandeur never to be forgotten.

The horses and comfortable coaches have always been maintained by this line to which should be added the best and most careful of drivers. Without referring to those in the past whose names will readily recur to the patrons of the line, the select upon hand who were the last to drive through to the Lake, Messrs Jerry McDonald and Dave Furnham were two of the best. Mr Furnham has driven but a few years, but during that time made a host of friends. Mr McDonald has driven more years than the writer would care to state, having driven for Nichols during several years of his ownership, and we are not sure that he also drove for Norcross. Always popular, he has been no less so under Messrs Morrison and Hunting, and one always felt sure, when Jerry was at the ribbons of a safe ride over the hills.

But the onward march of progress has relegated stage coaches to the rear, and we can only look back upon them now as memories of the past.
